

LOOK OF THE PAST... This 2500 square foot building is far different from the ultra-modern, 65,000 square foot Hawthorne store of The Boys Market, now celebrating a 37th anniversary. The supermarket was started by a group of young brothers — the oldest 14—and was called "The Boys" store, hence the name.

THE BOYS MARKET IS OBSERVING 37TH YEAR

Thirty-seven years ago, the Boys Market, consisting of a group of young brothers, got its start on Anaheim-Telegraph Road in Los Angeles. They provided people in the community with fresh produce and a small selection of groceries. Due to their age, the oldest being only fourteen, people got into the habit of referring to shopping at "The Boys" store, where the name originated.

It's a far cry from the 2500 square foot building pictured above, to the boys 65,000 square foot supermarket in Hawthorne. From this small beginning, The Boys Markets have grown to eight of the largest supermarkets in the Southern California area, with three more stores on the drawing board for 1960.

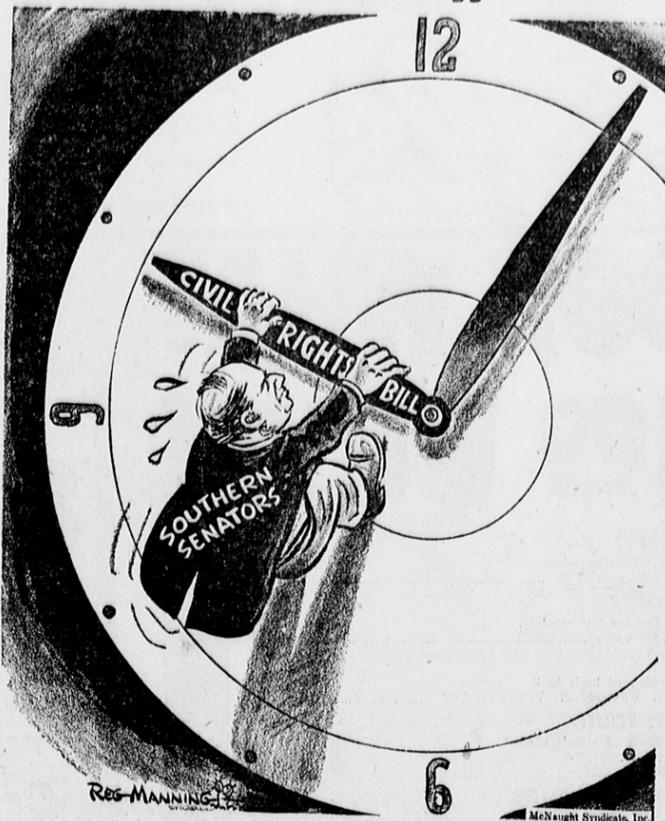

This growth is due to the confidence that has been built up over the years by adhering to a policy of offering their customers the highest quality merchandise at the lowest possible prices. People enjoy shopping at the Boys because of the pleasant atmosphere, friendly clerks and the large selection of fresh, crisp produce and tender U. S. Choice meat.

This week marks the 37th birthday of The Boys Markets, who wish to take this opportunity to thank their many friends and neighbors for their continued patronage throughout the years.
